STUDENT ADVISORY COUNCILS

Student Advisory Council to School Committee.

The School Committee, elected by the citizens of Haverhill, develops policies relative to the administration of the public schools in this city. Haverhill High School students have a direct line of communication to the School Committee through the Student Advisory Council. This committee of five students, elected from the student body, attends School Committee meetings, is available to advise the School Committee on matters that affect students, and keeps the student body informed of School Committee decisions. The Student Advisory Committee shall elect a chairperson who should be an ex-officio non-voting member of the School Committee.

Regional Advisory Council to Massachusetts Board of Education.

Every year, Haverhill High School students elect two representatives to the Regional Advisory Council. These students meet regularly with representatives from other schools to discuss common problems and make recommendations to the Massachusetts State Board of Education.

Haverhill High School Site Council Membership

Each year the Haverhill High School Student Council will elect two student members to the High School Site Council.
